STONE WALLS AND COUNTRY LIFE.

John's boys were very companionable, they knew, with remarkable clearness, the names of the woodland trees, and the manner of perpetration. How the bark growing on the north side was always thickest, and if the weather was going to be very cold and severe the shadows lengthened, the limbs shortened, and the white trunk of the sycamore bore dark spots like the "goose bone."

We walked over the hillside with the two dogs, stirring up the rabbits and laughing merrily over the ineffectual attempts of the small pup to overtake the larger dog in the race for life.

Those were happy days. Indeed, the three weeks' visit will be among the sweetest memories of my life. School days alone separated the out-of-doors enjoyment with the boys. The Gordon school claimed my friends, who seemed delighted with the president and the faculty, but were averse to study or much discipline. They preferred to ride their ponies or walk with me. One day we drove down to "Silver Lake," where a local fisherman related to us this legend: "In the early history of the county, on the ground which is now covered by the pond, stood an old grist mill. Some say hand-mash whisky was the one product, and the influence of the drug was sown in disorder and reaped even to this day. In the year 1811 an earthquake destroyed the mill site, and a subterranean river covered the whole valley. Where the old mill stood the depth of the water is unfathomed. The old road to Lexington ran through this spot, across the country, and many interesting stories are told of the old taverns and the people who were travelers." The ruins of old "Red Stone Hall" were visited, and we heard the story of "Marion Gray," which book was afterward read with pleasure. On Saturday I walked to the small meeting house where the assembly had met. The congregation consisted of men and women living in the near neighborhood. Some coming "a foot" and others riding or driving in comfortable style. The young boy who had welcomed me, at the first, gave me welcome now, and a seat in a pew near the pulpit. This altar for worship was tall, severe, and formidable in its dark vestitures and the minister arose, clad in "jeans" from head to foot. His shirt front was immaculate, made of linen homespun and sewed by hand. The stock collar high and clerical with a deep cravat of black. His face was thin with deep hollows in the cheek—straight aquiline nose, sad eyes of brown, and hair worn long over his shoulders.

I could not tell if he were an old or a man of tender years until he spoke. His voice was clear and melodious, ringing among the dark rafters and down the aisles like the music one hears at sea. Instinctively I respected his office, and revered the man. His reading was an inspiration so delightfully unexpected that I sat content.

It was exquisitely told—the story so old, and yet so new. Bits of mosaic laid in the superstructure of life; tapestry hung in the windows of the soul—paintings on the walls of memory. Just a bit of Bible history about the tragedy in a garden. The Master's faith in the three watchers, and how frail they were. The trial of human endurance and its sequence. The end of suffering. I followed him with pulsing heart, and saw, with no earthly vision, the three crosses with Jesus in the midst. I, too, had been one of these, a sinner convicted. I, too, would meet Him in Paradise. What blessed assurance. What strange peace of understanding. I scarcely heard the closing song or prayer, for the joy of believing.

The minister gave me his hand at an introduction. I introduced myself. His name was Blanton, and he was not the resident pastor, but a passerby evangelist. I recognized his gift of prophecy—I knew that some day he would find his Gethsemane and his rest, but we would meet no more. The congregation dispersed, some giving me pleasant greetings, others only curious glances, and so it is in every walk of life; but if each of us would recall the injunction, "as often as ye have done a kindness to the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me," no aching heart would go unresponsive, no lonely footsteps unattended—but all would be friends in His name, and burden-bearers for one another.

Returning down the pike, I stopped for a drink of water at the home of the two orphans. One of the children brought the water to me in a clean gourd. She had been crying and her face was flushed as if in anger. To my questioning she replied: "Granny aint er goin ter give me no new dress fur Christmas." "But Old Santa will bring it and put the present in your stocking," I answered in good faith.

"Granny says thar aint no Santa Claus."

"She said that? Well she don't know anything, and the dear old Christmas giver is just as real as I am and as certain to come to see you as I am here to-day. Only believe." The face of the child was radiant with hope. She ran to whisper the secret to her brother, bringing him shy and timid to my side. He was only a bit of a boy, but my heart goes out to boys for the sake of one who sleeps in the far off southland—my little boy—and I clasped him to my breast with a sweet assurance of love and sympathy to which they gave earnest heed.

"Jamie," I said, "God loves you, and his angels watch over your pathway and guide your steps. Do not let little sister cry. Make her laugh and sing like the birds. Santa Claus told me he was coming to see you so you must hang up your stocking. Be good to each other, and to Miss Button. She, no doubt, needs comfort, too."

"That I does, Miss Nell! With all the work of keepin' house, and them boarders comin' in at all hours, day an' night, we'll nigh sets me crazy. These here children haint so worse as others, but they does bother the life out of me talkin' erbout Christmas. They must a had lots of fun befo' their mammy died, po things."

"Yes, Miss Button, it is a sad certainty. We are going to let old Santa Claus know the children are here and you, too, must hang up your stocking with theirs. Let me tell you a little story. (I wiped dishes as we talked.)

"Once upon a time a young mother thought to teach her child a beautiful lesson of humanity. She filled his pockets with imaginary kisses which he distributed with a charming sweetness when he went on his daily walks. It was when he was placing one of them on the lips of the writer with his own tender little hands that the mother said to her: 'I shall teach my boy the whole world loves him I am tired of hearing of the evil. My son shall learn the good of humanity. He shall have faith.'

I knew by the expression on Miss Button's face that she understood. Henceforth, the children would find a mother's care.

And they would be led to reach heaven's gate

By the beautiful path, content to wait.

RIVER ON RAMPAGE.

The almost continuous rains of Saturday, Sunday and Sunday night caused all the small streams in this section to become rushing torrents, and by Tuesday morning the river had risen some twelve feet or more and the whole surface of the stream was black with sawlogs and drift of all kinds.

It has been a long time since the river has reached the stage obtained by this rise.

DEATH FROM LOCKJAW.

Never follows an injury dressed with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Its antiseptic and healing properties prevent blood poisoning. Chas. Oswald, Merchant, of Rensselaersville, N. Y., writes: "I cured Seth Burch, of this place, of the ugliest sore on his neck I ever saw." Cures cuts, wounds, burns and sores. 25c. at all druggists.

ACCIDENT ON VERSAILLES, MIDWAY & GEORGETOWN RAILROAD.

Just as the passenger train on the Versailles, Midway & Georgetown division of the Southern Railway was passing Viley Station, five miles from Versailles, on Monday last, en route to Georgetown, the combination passenger and baggage car left the track and went over an embankment, landing bottom side up.

That genial and capable official, Capt. John R. Bryant, was so unfortunate as to have his collar bone broken and to be otherwise bruised and injured.

Of the ten passengers in the car six were more or less seriously hurt, among them being Mr. S. M. Stafford, of this county.

A cleverer or more popular conductor never ran on that road than Capt. Bryant, and we sincerely hope that he may soon recover from his injuries.

POSTMASTER ROBBED.

G. W. Fouts, Postmaster at Riverton, La., nearly lost his life and was robbed of all comfort, according to his letter, which says: "For 20 years I had chronic liver complaint, which led to such a severe case of jaundice that even my finger nails turned yellow; when my doctor prescribed Electric Bitters: which cured me and have kept me well for eleven years." Sure cure for Billiousness, Neuralgia, Weakness and all Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bladder derangements. A wonderful Tonic. At all druggists. 50 cents.

ARM BROKEN.

Master Henschen Blayney, son of Dr. T. Lindsey Blayney, of Danville, was so unfortunate as to fall from a toy automobile, on Tuesday, and break his right arm. Surgical attention was at once rendered.

AN ALARMING SITUATION.

Frequently results from neglect of clogged bowels and torpid liver, until constipation becomes chronic. This condition is unknown to those who use Dr. King's New Life Pills; the best and gentlest regulators of Stomach and Bowels. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 25c.

[From the Evening Post.] GOVERNOR'S GALLERY HAS BEEN COMPLETED.

First and Only Authentic Collection of the State's Chief Executives.

For the first time in the history of the State a complete collection of the portraits of Kentucky's governors has been secured, and the Louisville Evening Post has made it possible for us to place them in the hands of every citizen of this grand old Commonwealth.

The collection was secured after art galleries and private collections all over the United States had been drawn upon. A few of them are very rare, and one of the governors is the only picture in existence. It was secured at an expense of several hundred dollars.

Not even the Kentucky Historical Society can boast of a complete set of the portraits of Kentucky's governors. No individual collection, so far as is known, contains them all, and none of the histories of the State have the full set. It will be seen that the Evening Post, in presenting the Home Library Wall Chart to its readers will be the first to furnish to Kentuckians a full gallery of the sons of the Bluegrass whom she has honored with the highest office in the State. Two years have been spent in collecting this gallery, and it is with a sense of pardonable pride that the Evening Post points to the fact that it is now in a position to furnish the chart complete.

Some of the most interesting portraits, at this time, are those of the war governors. Beriah Magoffin, J. F. Robinson and Thomas E. Bramlette. The pictures are the best of these executives that have been printed. The portraits of former governors, now living, are six in number, and are those of Preston H. Leslie, Proctor Knott, Simon Bolivar Buckner, James B. McCreary, William O. Bradley and W. S. Taylor.

In addition to the roster of Kentucky's governors, the chart, which contains six pages, 28x36 inches, has the latest and most correct map of the State extent. No map heretofore published shows the clearness or detail and high are of map engraving as this one. The chart also contains all of the pictures of the presidents of the United States, made from excellent half tone. Recent events in the world's history have also changed the topography of certain portions of the globe, and these changes are brought right up to date. One of the pages of the chart is devoted to a map of the world, showing the continents, the separate countries, islands, oceans, names of rulers, coats of arms, flags of all nations and varied and interesting statistics. There is a complete map of the United States, showing all of the new possessions, the increase in the population, commerce, and a map of Panama and the Canal zone. A topographic map of the Russian-Japanese war district, with the location of the famous battles on sea and land, is also included. The chart is indexed, making it so simple that a child can easily find anything desired.

The above chart is given away absolutely free to readers of this paper. Ask us about it.

"OUR COUNTRY FOR DECEMBER."

The December issue of "OUR COUNTRY," the new national magazine published by the Home and Fire-side Company, Louisville, Ky., takes a creditable place among the many Christmas editions. "Our Country" contains 36 pages, and is profusely illustrated. The cover is handsome and novel, printed in two colors. The feature article is entitled "North and South," and is based on a letter written by an officer in the Federal Army to his infant son, to be read to the son when he reaches his forty-fifth birthday. The son reads the letter to an old friend, who was an officer in the Confederate Army. The comments and anecdotes running through the article give it an absorbing interest. The editorial department is vigorous, following the motto of the magazine, "Liberty of Thought—Thought of Liberty." Other good features are "Wayside Talk," "Cognitions of a Country Parson," "Nature Studies," and the usual departments—Athletics, Fashions, The Household, Farm and Poultry, Dogs, Book Reviews, etc. Two good short stories, poetry and miscellany serve to balance the magazine and make it of interest to every member of the family. Among the better known contributions are Ingram Crockett, Nancy Lewis Greene, Reina Melcher and Mary Warren Forster. As a whole "Our Country" more than fulfills its early promises, and it will certainly take rank with the foremost magazines of the day.

BIG STOCK OF LUMBER.

Messrs. Hammond & Co. say to their big line of customers, in today's paper, that they have now in stock the largest and best line of lumber, shingles and all other articles in their line that they have ever handled.

Those having need of first-class lumber, etc., would do well to go and see this hustling firm before buying elsewhere.

FOR COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE, LABOR AND STATISTICS.

To the Republicans of Kentucky:

I take this opportunity to announce myself as a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, subject to the action of the Republican State Convention, and ask to have your earnest support for the position.

Kentucky is, in the main, an Agricultural State, and through her great fertility, has established a name that is far-reaching, with the products found in almost all the markets of the world to-day.

For many years I have labored untiringly and unceasingly for the success of the Grand Old Republican party and have never as yet asked for or received any favors in return for the service rendered.

The greater part of my life has been spent upon the farm, and I have a personal knowledge of what the farmer wants and needs. Twenty-five years of my life were spent in the northern part of the State as a farmer, the succeeding five or six years were spent on the Bluegrass farms of the central part of the State, before I left the plow to take up the pen in defense of the great principles advocated by the Grand Old Party, which I have at all times endeavored to defend.

The past three years of my life have been spent among the good people of Southeastern Kentucky, where their attention is given more to mining and lumbering than to the agricultural industry, so that I have had a splendid opportunity, of which I have taken advantage, to acquaint myself with the wants and needs of the various parts of our Commonwealth; not by flying trips as some get information, but by living and associating with the people, and giving close attention to the surroundings, and I feel, therefore, that my actual experience peculiarly fits me for the duties and responsibilities incumbent upon that office.

I am impressed that there is not another State office that affects more directly the general welfare of the people than that of Commissioner of Agriculture. It is in direct touch with the agricultural interests of the State. The farmers may be assisted more through the Commissioner of Agriculture than through any other State official. For that reason it seems that it would be but the part of wisdom to select as a candidate for that position a man who has had actual experience on the farm and knows the farmer's needs. The farmers pay the bulk of the taxes and are deserving of every recognition and their industries should be encouraged and built up in all parts of the Commonwealth. If nominated and elected to this office I now pledge my untiring efforts for the future welfare of the farmer and laborer. With that purpose in view, I submit my claim to the Republicans of Kentucky believing that they will do that which will be for the best interest of the party and for the citizen of the State. If elected to this office I will faithfully and earnestly strive to fulfill its duties and to serve the people of this great Commonwealth which I might be permitted to represent.

Very respectfully,
D. W. CLARK.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

In a short time we will begin sending out our bills for subscription to the ROUNDABOUT.

We trust that our patrons will take time by the forelock and will pay up their arrearages before these reminders are sent to them.

There are a number of our patrons who owe us two or more years subscription, and, while these may be small sums to them, the aggregate to us amounts to quite respectable figures.

We do not wish to discontinue any subscription, but those who owe and will not pay, after a reasonable time, will have to be cut off.

TOBACCO GROWERS ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The Tobacco Growers' Association of this county held another largely attended meeting at the Courthouse on Saturday afternoon.

Reports showed that a big majority of the tobacco men of the county had signed the agreement for their crop.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Board of Control of the Burley Growers' Association of Franklin County, Kentucky, have heard with unfeigned surprise and regret of the burning of the tobacco stemmeries at Princeton, Kentucky, by "night raiders;" and

Whereas, Such acts of lawlessness are shocking in the extreme, to all lovers of law and order, acts for which no good citizens can or will make excuse, even under the most provoking circumstances; therefore, be it

Resolved, First, That this dastardly crime meet with our severest condemnation.

Second, That it is our earnest desire that the perpetrators be apprehended, brought to a speedy trial, and made to suffer the full penalty of an outraged law.

Whereas, It is evident that many are interested and willing to use much effort in having burley tobacco growers co-operate by pooling this, our staple, crop that we may secure a remunerative price for same; and,

Whereas, Many who are thus inclined feel incompetent on account of lack of information to do efficient work;

Therefore, Be it resolved by the Franklin County Board of Burley Tobacco Society, that a special meeting be held in the city of Frankfort as soon as practical next week which should serve as a school of instruction for workers and to effect a thorough canvass which will avail much in apprising many who are not identified without cause, of the great opportunity we have of securing control of and getting our own price for this coveted commodity of our production, we should further insist that those who feel compelled to sell their tobacco to meet obligations, inquire diligently into the advantages of this system of co-operation, and be assured that all such can be provided for satisfactorily.

REPAIRS MADE TO TRESTLE.

SELBERT'S MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY OF HOLIDAY GOODS.

To those who contemplate purchasing anything in the way of silverware or cut glass for their Christmas presents, we would commend the assortment of M. A. Selbert, the reliable jeweler. It is one of the most attractive establishments in the city and is resplendent in beautiful, dainty and useful articles.

Rarely, if ever, has it happened that such a stock of attractive goods has been laid before our citizens.

You can get anything you want in the way of time pieces from the cheapest silver to the finest jeweled gold watch; the prettiest and most useful silverware—knives, forks, spoons, butter dishes, silver service, goblets, etc.; diamonds blaze at you from the most modest solitaire to the resplendent brooches; gold bracelets, rings, etc., to suit any and all tastes.

Verily, if you wish to feast your eyes on works of art, go and see Selbert.

What they sell is guaranteed in every way, and at very reasonable prices.

NATIONAL BANKS WON.

The Court of Appeals, just before adjournment of the September term, handed down a decision which holds that the act of March, 1906, providing for the taxation of government bonds held by National Banks, could not be effective for 1906, as the act was not retroactive, and, as the assessment had been made at the scheduled time (September, 1905), it could not apply to the taxes of 1906.

WANT 100,000 NAMES.

Kentucky Jamestown Exposition Commission Calls for Popular Subscriptions to Fund.

A well-attended meeting of the Kentucky Jamestown Exposition Commission was held last Wednesday at the headquarters of the Commission in Louisville. The meeting was called by Col. J. Stoddard Johnson, President, for the purpose of devising ways and means to continue the campaign for popular subscriptions to the Kentucky Building and Exhibit Fund.

Citizens from every section of the State have been responding to the call for funds, but as it will require not less than $40,000 to erect a building and making a proper display covering the products and resources of the State, the Commission is still a long way from the desired goal. Less than five months remain before the opening of the Exposition and with the stupendous amount of work ahead, it is necessary that the subscriptions be received at an early date.

Direct appeals have already been made to those friends of State development who showed an interest by subscribing to the Kentucky Exhibit fund for the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904 and now a campaign will be carried on which will cover every class of business and so far as possible every individual in the State. A plea for popular subscriptions throughout Kentucky as made. It is the wish of the Commission that 100,000 names may appear on the subscription books.

Therefore no subscription is too small to be of value. The Commission invites every citizen of the State to give an expression of substantial interest in this movement. C. C. Ousley, Secretary, 204 Commercial Building, Louisville, is authorized by the Commission to receive all subscriptions. The general public is urged to send contributions direct to him and the receipt of the treasurer for the amount subscribed will be promptly forwarded. In cases where it is not desired to make a cash subscription, the Commission is anxious that those willing to give, notify the secretary by mail of the amount of their subscription, naming a future date for payment. All payments should be made on or before February 1, 1907.

Attention has heretofore been called to the manner in which the money will be spent. The Commissioners are giving their services entirely gratuitously to the work and every cent subscribed will be devoted to the erection of a Kentucky Building and the collection, transportation, installation and maintenance of an exhibit from this State.

At Wednesday's meeting considerable progress along the various lines of endeavor was reported by Commissioners. The mineral, agricultural and forestry exhibits from this State promise to prove more interesting than at any previous World's Fair, although the exhibits may not be built on so large a scale as heretofore. It is the intention of the Commission, however, to make every department a model of completeness. The historical department will doubtless be the most interesting this State has ever sent to an Exposition. Many profers of valuable historical souvenirs have already been made to the Commission.

A committee was authorized to visit Jamestown at once and select the building site for Kentucky and also secure the necessary space for exhibits in various Exposition buildings.

Tightly Locked From Nervous Spasms.

Physicians Could Not Prevent Fits.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure My Wife.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure has been successfully tried in thousands of cases of nervous disorders, but never has it made a better record than when used in the treatment of fits or spasms. Thousands of testimonials prove this, and in nearly every instance the writer has stated that the fits ceased after the first dose of Nerve Cure was given. The statement is repeated in the following:

"Seven years ago my wife commenced having spasms or fits and I called in my home physician and he and I were paralyzed. He rubbed her with salt water and gave her calomel and she eventually got some better, but in a short time she had another attack. She was confined to her bed for three months and the doctor could not help her. She had fits frequently, some times very severe. Her hands would cramp so we could not open them and she finally got so her jaws would become locked. Finally I saw the doctor was doing her no good and ordered a bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve Cure. She received so much benefit from the first bottle that I got some more. She has taken a number of bottles, but has never had a fit since taking the first dose. She also thinks very highly of Dr. Miles' Nerve and Laxative Pills and is never without them. If there is any way of making this testimonial stronger do so because of the good the Dr. Miles Restorative Nerve Cure did my wife."—Wm. Y. Allen, F. M. Elkville, Miss.

CORKERS AND TWISTERS.

By Mrs. O'Houlihan.

As the alcalde of West Frankfort sat in his front porch, one sunny afternoon, looking out on the broad river in front of him, and upon the opposite bank, of East Frankfort, dotted with its 147 houses of varied construction, of conglomerate materials, and of unmediated architectural design—the extatic scene lulled his senses and the Alcalde dreamed a dream. He dreamed that he saw a beautiful bridge span the Kentucky river from the juncture of Kentucky and Benson avenues, near Crutcher's store, to the entrance to Mero street.

This splendid bridge was of the truss pattern, with approaches of 300 feet on each side of the river, and a central span of 400 feet, and was erected at a cost of $50,000, being the joint subscription of $20,000 each from county and city and $10,000 from the L. & N. R. R.

The abutment approach of 100 feet, on each end, was supplemented by 200 feet spans to the Main central span which was 60 feet above the mire sill at Lock No. 4—a height sufficient for all steamboats to pass. The four central piers rested upon solid rock foundations—the same ledges exposed to view in low water before the locks were constructed. The approach from the West Frankfort, or Bellepoint side, was level, whilst from Wilkinson street there was a gentle grade of one foot in twenty, or 15 feet rise to the middle span.

There was a roadway of 20 feet wide and walkways on either side of 6 feet each, guarded by tasteful and strong iron railings. The flooring of roadway and side passages were of substantial white oak, the iron work tasteful and durable, while the strength of the bridge was tested at 10 tons to the square inch.

Across this great thoroughfare, the dreamer saw pouring a great tide of commercial traffic—wagons, drays, carts, express wagons and automobiles, whilst from Benson, Harvieland, Bald Knob, Flat Creek, Bailey's Mill, and from Shelby and Henry counties came wagons loaded with produce and drays weighted with tobacco hogsheads. Pedestrians thronged the walkways.

As the industrial vision lengthened, the sleeper saw West Frankfort extending its limits until the opening up of new streets and the building of new dwellings and stores occupied the whole territory now known as the Todd farm and a population of 3,000 paid taxes and tribute to the capital city, in addition to the riches that came from increased production and increased value of lands in the country districts.

Whilst the mind of the Alcalde was reveling in this dream of structural beauty and glory of commercial growth that seemed to bless the great city of Frankfort, a terrific roaring sound suddenly rent the air and awoke the dreamer, who, opening his eyes, saw the Falls City steamboat blowing its whistle for the lock, and the splendid bridge and its teeming throngs had vanished into thin air. But the dreamer had created the hope that a long enterprise and vigor may cause it to blossom into reality.

Ten years ago, who would have thought a great glassworks plant would confront Thorn Hill, or a suburban railway bind the city to Versailles?

A pair of wrens were accustomed, year after year, to make their nest and hatch out their brood under the eaves of the back porch of a country residence, several miles from the city. They fluttered about the porch and adjacent trees, and the short chirp of their musical song was pleasing melody during the quiet hours. One day I was sitting in the porch, silent and still, looking out pensively and dreaming upon the landscape beyond Elkhorn's dancing waters, when one of these wrens flew down from the branch of a locust tree, that stood near the end of the porch, and lit upon my knee, looking up into my face as if to say, "How are you?" I kept perfectly still, waiting to see what would be its next move. After silently eyeing me curiously for a moments or two, it flew back upon the eaves of the porch, without showing alarm, or giving evidence that it had done anything unusual. Probably it imagined I was a piece of statuary or a part of the dwelling, and not plain, artless Mrs. O'Houlihan.

CITIES TO PARTICIPATE.

Large Municipalities Will Make Industrial Exhibits at Jamestown Exposition.

Many cities will make exhibits at the Jamestown Exposition, to be held on the shores of Hampton Roads, near Norfolk, Va., April 26, to November 30, 1907. These displays will be made under the auspices of municipal government, and commercial organizations independent of the State's participation, will serve to exploit their respective advantages, together with the products of manufacturers in and about the municipality making the exhibit. These cities have engaged space in the manufacturers and liberal arts building; while some will erect separate buildings: Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Hartford, Syracuse, Richmond and several others of equal importance.

The advantages of participating in the Exposition has found favor among the manufacturers of Massachusetts, who will make the largest shoe exhibit ever shown at any former exhibition. The council of Boston has appropriated $50,000 to exploit the city's advantages and industrial resources. Concerted action has been taken to show a collective display of the Hub's advantages and inducements.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—is an excellent aid to the bowels. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this fine Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome candy tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the D. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Bowel Complication, etc., is indeed prompt and relieving.

No grating, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

ments to capital, together with a comprehensive exhibit of its varied manufactured products.

The commercial organizations of Washington (the capital city) will make two displays. One devoted to commercial development, and the other a municipal exhibit, comprising miniature reproductions of the several departments of White House, Capitol, Library of Congress, and also plans of the mode parking system now being perfected to make the city the most beautiful and attractive capital in the world.

Milwaukee will divide its exhibit into divisions comprising industrial, commercial and groceries and manufactures. It will be one of the largest displays ever made by a municipality.

The commercial organizations, mine operators and manufacturers of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho have combined in an effort to erect a separate building to display the resources and products of those States. It is to be known as the "Northwest Exhibit Palace," and will contain several miniature mines, smelters, etc., showing how the vast mineral wealth of the northwest is mined.

DON'T FAIL TO ATTEND.

By a notice in another place, Mrs. W. B. Rodman offers for sale a large quantity of desirable and serviceable household and kitchen furniture as well as some farming implements. The sale will take place on the premises at Point Breeze, overlooking the city. The farm has been sold and possession has to be given the new owners.

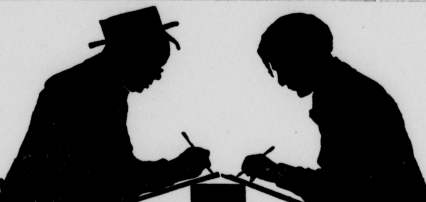

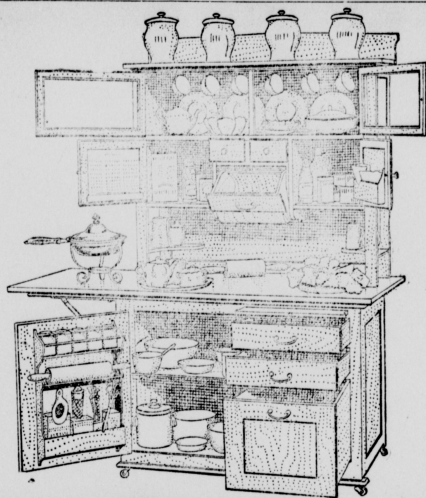

Don't fail to attend. Rare bargains can be had.

THE GUARDIANSHIP OF THE CHILD.

In a recent editorial on the Castellane divorce case, the Courier-Journal regrets that the mother was not awarded the entire custody of the children, and declares that the father is wholly unworthy of being trusted with any share in their guardianship. Yet in the Courier-Journal's own State, Kentucky, the law makes the father the sole guardian of the minor children. No mother, except the unmarried mother, has any part in the custody and care of her children. A bill whose object is to make fathers and mothers the co-guardian has been introduced more than once in the Legislature of Kentucky, and as many times has failed to pass, and there are now only thirteen States in the Union that give the mother an equal share with the father in the guardianship of minor children. ..DEATHS..

BLANTON—In Indianapolis, Ind., on Sunday, Mrs. Emma Blanton, widow of the late Dr. Alex. H. Blanton, aged about 70 years, of pneumonia.

Mrs. Blanton was the daughter of the late Judge Jacob Swigert, and sister of Mrs. Lucy Evans, of this city, Mr. Daniel Swigert, of Lexington; Mr. Joseph Swigert, of this city, and Miss Helen Swigert, of Indianapolis, Ind.

She was a devoted member of the Methodist Church, a handsome, cultivated, attractive and gracious lady of the olden time, a leader in the hospitality that made Frankfort so famous in the years that are gone.

She had been a widow for many years and was living with her only son, Mr. L. Harvey Blanton, in Indianapolis. She was the grandmother of Mr. J. Will Pruett, Jr., of the National Branch Bank of Kentucky.

The host of friends of this lovely lady will be saddened when they learn of her going hence.

The remains were brought here on the 9:30 L. & N. train, on Tuesday morning. The funeral services were conducted from the chapel in the cemetery, by Rev. J. O. A. Vaught, of the Methodist Church, and the interment was in the family lot by the side of her husband and daughter.

We knew and admired Mrs. Blanton for her many graces of mind and person, and tender our sincerest sympathy to the afflicted family.

BOOTH—In Louisville, on Sunday, Mrs. Annilda U. Booth, widow of Mr. E. G. Booth, aged 80 years, of general debility.

Mrs. Booth's maiden name was Vallandigham. She was born and reared in Owen county. In her girlhood she married the late Capt. Frank H. Kean, for many years a conductor on the old Louisville, Lexington and Frankfort R. R., and afterwards being engaged in the wholesale grocery business with the firm name of F. H. Kean & Bro. After Mr. Kean's death Mrs. Booth married Mr. E. G. Booth and went to California to live. After his death she returned to Louisville and had made that city her home until the end came.

Mrs. Booth was a devout member of the Christian Church. She was a very handsome woman, gentle, kindly and loving. She was a sister of Mrs. J. L. Rodman, of this city, who was at her bedside when she passed away.

The funeral services were conducted on Tuesday afternoon, from the residence, and the remains were laid to rest in Cave Hill Cemetery.

We tender our sympathy to the afflicted relatives.

SMITH—At Elmore, this county, on Monday morning, Mrs. Lou Smith, widow of the late Mr. Mitchell Smith, aged 50 years, after a long illness.

Mrs. Smith was a devoted member of Antioch Christian Church, and the funeral and interment took place at that church, on Tuesday, services conducted by Rev. J. K. P. South.

WELLS—In this city, on Wednesday, after long illness, Mr. William R. Wells, aged 58 years.

Mr. Wells came to this city from Garrard county many years since. He was a stalwart man, over 6 feet 3 inches tall, broad shouldered and compact. He was a genial, clever gentleman. He was a carpenter and builder by occupation and was faithful to his engagements.

He had served several years on the police force of this city and was an efficient officer.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter (Mrs. T. M. Phytian) eight brothers and one sister.

The funeral services took place from the Christian Church, on yesterday afternoon, Rev. C. R. Hudson officiating, and the remains were laid away in our cemetery.

He was a big-hearted, true man and his death will carry sorrow to a large circle of friends.

"HAPPYLAND."

De Wolf Hopper and Superb Supporting Company of Nearly 100 People Comes to Capital Theatre Next Week.

The present season marks the end of the long career of De Wolf Hopper in the Comic Opera field, but, inasmuch as he has decided to forsake for the more legitimate styles of comedy. This fact is certainly to be regretted because Mr. Hopper, without doubt stands as the pre-eminent exponent of the Opera Bouffe entertainment.

Mr. Hopper's career as a comic opera comedian goes back to the season of 1880, when he made his first appearance in Philadelphia. It was only an experiment on his part, but he was so decidedly successful that he has remained in that work ever since. From 1880 until 1891 Mr. Hopper had many "more than mediocre" success to his credit, but it was in the season of 1891 that he startled the light opera world with his performance and production of "Wang," which has been revived for the fourth time this season.

"Wang," from its very first performance, was immensely popular and the run extended over two seasons with just the slightest break during the very hot months.

His next big success, which followed rapidly upon that of "Wang," was "Panjandrum," which was accorded extraordinary business for one entire season.

Following this comes "Dr. Syntax," which everybody knows was one of the theatrical innovations of that generation. While everybody was still clamoring for "Wang" and "El Capitan," Mr. Hopper, in direct opposition to all of the theatrical traditions, put on "The Charlatan," which simply produced an uproar of popularity. While in the height of this success, Mr. Hopper went to London with his performance of "El Capitan." Everybody predicted a dire failure for Mr. Hopper and his attraction, but, nevertheless, for ten solid months he packed the theatre in the British metropolis.

He then returned to this country and appeared in that dainty musical conceit known as "Mr. Pickwick," which gained for him many ardent admirers as it permitted him to demonstrate the thorough legitimacy and understanding of the many requirements of straight character creation.

While this was in progress,

Weber and Fields were making most of their offers to Mr. Hopper. He accepted, and for two years was the foundation rock of this excellent company.

After leaving Weber & Fields, "Wang" was produced for the third time. This was during the season of 1904, and for 47 weeks Mr. Hopper played too capacity houses. The next important step was the production of "Happyland," which, as everybody knows, is an attraction that stands without equal in theatrical appeals, unless it be his perennial "standby" "Wang." "Happyland" has been aptly termed a light opera classic by most of the famous musical critics of to-day, and it is certain that this excellent musical play, in connection with "Wang," marks an epoch in theatricals that has never been surpassed and seldom equaled.

Mr. Hopper's reason for presenting these two operas this season, is that he desired to make his farewell light opera tour in his two greatest plays, and when one considers the fact that the gentleman has done nothing else but appear in the greatest of successes during the past fifteen years, it is easy to realize how much may be expected of "Happyland" and "Wang."

This great attraction, which promises to be one of the most notable of the entire season, comes to Capital Theatre December 29 for one performance only.

Seat sale opens at Barrett's Thursday morning, December 27, at 7 o'clock. Out of town patrons will do well to file their application for seats early, as there promises to be an unprecedented demand when the sale opens.

Orders by mail, telephone or telegraph will be filed and considered in order of receipt when sale opens. Prices, 50c to $1.50.

"KING O'KEEFE."

The jolly Elks are shaking hands with themselves over the excellent prospects for their entertainment, which comes off on the 26th and 28th of December.

With fairly like "Queen Lil" to do the society act and the rest of the unrivaled troupe, a fill in the spaces, it will be something long to be remembered as well as enjoyed right at the time.

Ticket sales open this morning at Barrett's. Go early &c. there will be a rush.

SAD ENDING OF LIFE'S FITFUL FEVER.

Mrs. Dolly Powers, better known here as "Dolly Theobald," the talented little soubrette, committed suicide in Columbus, Ohio, on Tuesday night, by shooting herself through the heart at her hotel, in that city.

Mrs. Powers' family seem followed by peculiar fatality. Her brother, Thomas, committed suicide when residing in the house now occupied by Mr. L. S. Graham, her mother and sister were burned to death in Louisville, and now pretty little Dolly follows by ending her life. She was a very talented and attractive actress, and had been married to Mr. Powers for several years.

May her troubled soul rest in peace.

HEAVY SNOW.

On Wednesday night a heavy snow fell in this city, and it looked as though we would have a "white Christmas," but later on it turned warmer and a rain fell causing the snow to disappear very rapidly. The snow was general in this section of the State.

CURT JETT CONFESSES.

That hardened fiend, Curtis Jett, on the witness stand, at Cynthiana, on Thursday, confessed that he shot and killed Cockrell, the town marshal, of Jackson, but claimed self-defense, when he was in hiding in the court house. Such things make a man sick at the stomach. Self-defense. Bah!

A FAMOUS REMEDY

"Cured MY cough with German Syrup"
He wrote to Dr. G. G. Green:
"As true as I tell you, doctor dear,
I'm feelin' finer than ever I've been!"

The poor consumptive should not be the victim of experiment, as he often is, but the moment the dread disease manifests its presence he should be given Bo-sche's German Syrup—a pure, non-alcoholic medicine that is made specially for the cure of consumption, and has a worldwide fame as a certain remedy for catarrh, colds, coughs, croup, sore throat and all bronchial affections in old and young. It is sold in all civilized countries, and has been famous as a consumption cure for almost half a century.
Trial bottle, 25c. Big bottle, 75c. At all druggists throughout the world.

Ladies will be admitted free, but gentlemen will be charged $1, which will include lunch, which will be served during the evening.

This will be a treat to the lovers of music and dancing.

VIOLIN RECITAL ON DEC. 31ST.

A delightful concert will be given at the Episcopal Chapel, on December 31st, under the auspices of the Woman's Club.
Mr. Arthur Leon Judson, the violinist, is a musician of fine feeling, who is sure to please his audience.

Mrs. Louise Cowan Bigelow, the vocalist, has a clear soprano voice, and has achieved great success in song recitals. The pianist Miss Churchill, studied music in Leipzig, and plays with fine ability.

Tickets for this concert will be on sale at Averill's drug store after December 25th.

It makes the blood stir with admiration to read the message of President Roosevelt with regard to the discharge of the colored soldiers guilty of dastardly conduct by which an innocent man was murdered, several others wounded and the lives of women and children endangered at Brownsville, Texas.

The President speaks out like a MAN, and asserts that his action but followed numerous precedents where white soldiers were treated in the same way, under similar circumstances.

He shows how he had thoroughly investigated the matter, and affirms that he would act in a similar way, in another occasion came up, without regard to whether the soldiers were of one race or the other. In fact he ignores the racial question altogether. The salvation of the colored race (whether in or out of the army) depends upon their obedience to law. The law is their shield and buckles, and when they disobey it, they lose their "vantage ground."

CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCE BY THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

On Tuesday morning next, December 25th, in compliance with a mandate of the Grand Encampment of the United States, the Knights Templar owing allegiance to that body, whether in this country, Alaska, Hawaii, or wherever they may be, on sea or land, will assemble for the purpose offering the following sentiment to the Grand Master:

"To our Most Eminent Grand Master, George M. Moulton:
"A merry Christmas, and may he always remember the love and friendship of his fellow soldiers of the Cross."

In response to the above Most Eminent Sir Moulton has sent the following:

"To the 165,000 Sir Knights of our jurisdiction on Christmas Day, the most memorable of all the days in the Christian calendar, this sentiment is dedicated:

"Man should ever seek his earthly reward for deeds done in the approval of his conscience, which is the voice of God, and next to gain the esteem of his fellowman, which when worthily won, is a priceless treasure."

In order that the ceremony may take place at the same time all over the United States, and her possessions, 12 o'clock, noon, Eastern standard time, has been fixed as the hour, and as 11 o'clock in this city, Tuesday morning, will correspond to that hour, the Sir Knights of Frankfort Commandery, No. 4, will meet in their Asylum in Masonic Temple for the purpose of observing the occasion in a proper manner and obeying the above mandate.

Every member of the Commandery is urged to be present and all true Templars sojourning in our city, and their friends, are courteously invited to be present. It is expected that in addition to the regular toast to the Grand Master of the United States, the Grand Commander of Kentucky will be remembered, some impromptu speeches will be made and an hour or so spent in social enjoyment.

To have beautiful, perfect, pink, velvet-like lips, apply at bedtime a light coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. Then, next morning, notice carefully the effect. POSITIVE PROOF.

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Frankfort.

Because it's the evidence of a Frankfort citizen. Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit.

The best proof. Read it: J. P. Taylor of 304 Madison street, carpenter by trade, now retired, says: "For nigh on to thirty years I was subject to pain and weakness in my back. The trouble I know came from the kidneys, especially from the left one, this being the most affected. Sometimes I could scarcely arise after kneeling or stooping and often when walking sharp pains would take me in the left side so as to nearly cause me to fall. A weakness of the kidney secretions was very annoying, especially at night, and it disturbed my rest. For years, at off-recurring intervals, I took various medicines which all practically failed to give the promised and expected benefit. It is the recollection of these very facts which make me so appreciate the remedy which also afforded me a genuine and lasting benefit. I refer to Doan's Kidney Pills which were procured by me at J. W. Gayle's drug store. They went right to the cause of the trouble and removed it. I will always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to my friends as a remedy that can be depended upon."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

McCLURE'S FOR 1907.

In the January number of McClure's will begin the Life of Mary Baker G. Eddy and the History of the Christian Science Movement. For the first time a complete, impartial and true story of Mrs. Eddy and Christian Science is to be had—it will run throughout the year. Georgine Milmine has written the story—for nearly three years she has pursued her study of the subjects. Five other writers of McClure's staff have worked with her to make this story accurate, fair, unbiased and complete. In view of the fact that for some months the press has been full of diverse and conflicting news and statements regarding Mrs. Eddy, it is evident that accurate knowledge concerning her is difficult to obtain in a short time. Consequently McClure's long and thorough preparation of its series will give us for the first time a true history and account of her and her cult. Carl Schurz's Reminiscences of a long life will be continued. An indication of the timeliness of these reminiscences and the re-awakened national interest in Carl Schurz to which they have contributed, are the great Carl Schurz Memorial Meetings held recently in the cities, and the Memorial Movement started which proposes to raise $250,000, and to erect a Carl Schurz Memorial as a tribute to his great service to the progress of our country.

William Allen White, Samuel Hopkins Adams, Burton J. Hendrick and George Kibbe Turner will also contribute to McClure's powerful articles on present day topics, conditions and men of national interest. These writers are big men and the work of each one aside from is literary achievement, is a compelling, wholesome factor in the regeneration which these United States are now undergoing.

George Kennan, who won his spurs by his remarkable series on Siberia and Russia's Exile System has been added to McClure's staff. The results of his recent investigations and work will appear at an early date.

Ellen Terry contributes an intimate history of the English drama of our day. This writing teems with anecdotes and incidents from the lives of great actors whom she knew intimately. From these droll, amusing and interesting happenings we can understand why these men and women of genius became loved and famous.

For the story readers products of all McClure's fiction favorites will appear and a large number of writers who have "hit" recently. Such well-known names as Joseph Conrad, Mary Stewart Cutting, Percival Gibbons, Viola Roseboro, O. Henry, Myra Kelly, Rex Beach, Mrs. Wilson Woodrow and Helen R. Martin give promise of as good stories of various sorts as any reader could wish.

Illustrators of note and merit will also contribute their shares and add to the authors' productions and enhance the writings and stories by scores of pictures and illustrations in every issue.

NEW RULES AS TO POST-OFFICE BOX RENT.

Postmaster Geo. L. Barnes has received the following new rules governing the rental of Postoffice boxes, which he will have to strictly enforce in future:

"No box shall be assigned to the use of any person until the rent therefor has been paid. Box rents must be collected at the beginning of each quarter for the entire quarter, but no longer. When a box is rented after the beginning of a quarter, rent must be collected pro rata for the remainder of the quarter. Ten days before the last day of each quarter postmasters are required to place in each rented box a bill, bearing the date of the last day of the quarter, which will be receipted upon payment of the rent. If a box holder fails to renew his right to his box on or before the last day of a quarter, the box shall then be closed and offered for rent and the mail placed in the general delivery subject to orders."

CONTRACT LET.

The contract to build the electric line from Beechwood to Shelbyville has been let by the L. & E. Railway to Mr. W. L. Love, of Indianapolis, Ind. The contract calls for the completion of the 23 miles by the early fall of next year. Beechwood is 8 miles from Louisville, making the total length of road 31 miles. From Shelbyville on to Frankfort will follow soon after.

SEE MEXICO.

An opportunity is offered a limited number of desirable persons to tour Old Mexico in Special Pullman Palace Cars.

A personally conducted tour, starting January 15, by representatives familiar with every point of historic interest on the route. The itinerary covers a period of thirty days of sight-seeing, and is unusually complete, satisfactory and interesting. The cost of the tour is very low and members of the party absolutely relieved of all responsibility regarding arrangements. If interested write for particulars at once.

FOLLOW THE FLAG.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant, U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases." Guaranteed at all druggists. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.
